Community Infrastructure

Other organizations in the community that provide the same or similar services as your organization.

Rainbow Center and Sherwood Autism Center provide day services to adults and children with intellectual and developmental disabilities (IDD). DPI focuses on serving adults. The Center for Developmentally Disabled provides residential care services and day habilitation to adults with IDD but does not offer medical support to its participants. DPI is the largest agency offering high-need medical services to its population and the only provider offering multiple locations in Jackson County--Independence, Kansas City, and Lee's Summit.

Compare your programs and results to others working in the same field.

Nearly all participants receiving day services have one or more compounding health conditions, with almost one-third requiring moderate to significant medical assistance each day. DPI removes participation barriers by offering increased access to day services, preventative care, and direct medical support resulting in better health outcomes and more consistent participation. DPI's registered nurse, licensed practical nurse, and direct service professionals provide annual health assessments and integrated medical support daily.

List all partnerships you have with other organizations along with the nature of the partnership.

The Department of Mental Health's local Division of Developmental Disabilities and area school districts provide DPI program information to those with IDD who will age out of school services. Rockhurst University's occupational therapy program conducts clinical rotations at DPI's Kansas City site. Local rotaries and optimist clubs (i.e., Aktion Club) provide meaningful volunteer and integration opportunities for both their members and DPI's participants.

Provide program description: Day habilitation services offer skill-building activities focused on self-care, socialization, and daily living to help individuals foster greater independence and improve their quality of life. DPI's trained staff support all participants' overall health and wellbeing on site. Medical care includes medication dispensation, tube feedings, comprehensive health assessments, and more. Funding will support three direct service professionals to assist participants with daily care needs such as toileting, feeding, and safe transfers. Support will also enable nutrition classes.

Describe the benefits of this program to Jackson County Missouri: DPI's services work to reduce the unmet healthcare needs of Jackson County residents with IDD and increase the likelihood that family caregivers can continue working, offering economic benefits. DPI provides high-quality programming with one-on-one assistance for individuals with IDD in Jackson County so they can thrive in day services outside the home while daily living needs are met. DPI offers Jackson County residents three locations with flexible hours, resulting in increased accessibility and less transit time, which can be critical for persons served and their caregivers.

Describe target population to be served: Participants are 100 adults, aged 21-65, with developmental disabilities, including diagnoses such as autism, cerebral palsy, Down syndrome, hydrocephalus, and pervasive developmental disorder. Ninety-eight percent (98%) of individuals live in Jackson County; 80% require assistance at mealtimes; 33% require daily medication dispensation; 25% use a wheelchair or assisted mobility device. Many participants have complex co-occurring medical conditions (i.e., type II diabetes, gastroesophageal reflux disease, seizures, and colitis) that require daily monitoring.

What are the qualifications for participants: DPI participants are adults, aged 21-65, diagnosed with an intellectual or developmental disability, primarily living in Jackson County, Missouri (98%). Participants have no further eligibility requirements; however, 99% of our population are Medicaid waiver eligible due to low incomes, often sourced through Social Security Disability Insurance. N/A

Identify the community need for your organization's program and services in Jackson County.

Adults with IDD over age 21 cannot receive public school services, leaving individuals without access to programs that will continue to foster their health and development throughout adulthood. People with IDD are more likely to have serious health issues than those without disabilities, making day service providers that can support significant health issues a vital community resource. DPI maintains a program wait list of more than 75 persons needing care. Based on demographic research and participant feedback, Eastern Jackson County was identified as the highest area of need.
