

Captain Richard Rodgers succeeded former Chief Charles Iseman, officially taking the helm as Chief of Police for the City of Grandview, Missouri on May 23, after a special pinning ceremony held by the Board of Aldermen.

Rodgers brings over 25 years of experience to his new position. He joined the department in 1999, and has worked in every division, including 14 years in command roles where he led the administration division and the SWAT team.

Beyond his service, Rodgers has dedicated many hours to the classroom, earning a Bachelor of Science in Police Administration from Park University and a Master of Business Administration from the University of Central Missouri.

He is also a graduate of the FBI National Academy (Class #252) and has served with the Honor Guard and Field Training Program.