5 COMMUNICATIONS WITH AND REPORTS OF THE COUNTY EXECUTIVE

Frank White Jr., County Executive, was not present. Sylvya Stevenson, Chief Administrative Officer, said there were no reports.

Manuel Abarca IV, County Legislator, said there have been inquiries made regarding paid under protest subsequent to the State Tax Commission's (STC) ruling. He asked for an explanation of what happens to those accounts that have been paid under protest.

Whitney Miller, Chief Deputy County Counselor, said in any year if paying under protest the taxpayer must pay timely and file a letter or notice explaining what they believe is the value of their property or what they are protesting. If these requirements are met, the money is moved into a protest account giving them 90 days to file litigation. If litigation is not filed, then the monies are released to the taxing jurisdiction at that time. The litigation would need to be specific to the parcel in question. Any reduction in value will result in a refund of the difference. She said the monies are released unless they are in an active STC appeal or active litigation.

Manuel Abarca IV asked about the term and supply contract for general contractor consultant and asked why it is now necessary. He also asked why the bid documents specify $50 million directed from ARPA.

Troy Schulte, County Administrator, said what they are pursuing is a construction manager at risk because there are several projects that have been fully designed; the exterior of the downtown courthouse for ADA accessibility, relocation of the jury room, ground floor separation to provide dedicated entrance for detention center transportation and county employees and 1300 Washington. The approach the Administration intended was for ARPA funds to be made available for them. A solicitation was sent out for a construction manager at risk which is a term and supply subject to the approval by the Legislature. There would be an exception if there was decision made to move forward with the projects with an ARPA allocation, then the project could be given to the contractor and a contract could be signed before the end of the year with legislative approval. The next step is proposals will be evaluated with price and a recommendation will be presented for the Legislature's approval and subject to an appropriation of funds. The county would then use the firm for the construction projects. This only works if something is fully designed and it is targeted towards facilities. It is another tool to indicate there is a finite amount of money and we need construction by a certain date and use your ability to work with the designer to modify the project and get it timely delivered. It is a new tool to accelerate construction. Manuel Abarca IV said it would be helpful for legislators to know these things in advance before the process begins.

Manuel Abarca IV said a report indicated available ARPA funds in the amount of $82,484,000.00 in total with an encumbrance of $10 million. Troy Schulte responded they will get a letter to the County Legislature and he believes the amount is $70.4 million as indicated in a report received from the Finance Department today. Mr. Abarca asked what happens to the interest earned from ARPA funds. Troy Schulte responded that interest earned flows to the General Fund since they are not earmarked and unrestricted dollars. He believes there was $8 million earned in 2023.

Sean E. Smith, County Legislator, asked with regards to the at risk manager, is the County doing things that expose us to potential liability. Troy Schulte said the risk component is if there is a price overrun in the project they bear the risk under this contractual arrangement because they have a finite amount of money to construct the project. If they are unable to construct within the determined amount, they are responsible for anything over that amount.

Donna Peyton, County Legislator, asked about the responsible bidder ordinance as it pertains to these construction projects. Troy Schulte said part of the requirement is that any of the selected entities would need to comply with the current responsible bidder ordinance. Ms. Peyton said Whitney Miller had indicated that we were close to having some resolution with regards to the responsible bidder ordinance approximately a month ago. Whitney Miller said she presented a draft of some potential language and is waiting for a reply. The draft was sent to the legislative subcommittee which included Legislators Marshall, McGee and Anderson. She has not checked for a reply from them in the last week. Whitney Miller said she would hope to have it to the Legislature shortly.

Manuel Abarca IV asked with regards to the responsible bidder ordinance (RBO), what is the status of the disparity study. Sylvya Stevenson, Chief Administrative Officer, replied that the Administration is waiting for the County Counselor's office to prepare the contract for Colleen Holt and Associates so work can begin. Ms. Holt is the attorney and her firm specializes in government contract compliance. Ms. Stevenson said they will be doing a construction availability study at an approximate cost of $49,000.00. Mr. Abarca asked if it will encompass both workforce and MBE/WBE. She responded it will not cover work force but will include Diversity Business Enterprise (DBE). Troy Schulte said the County does not have any requirements on workforce. He said we apply a workforce participation requirement on the detention center but there is a MBE/WBE goal setting and DBE/VBE process. Ms. Holt will be tasked with looking at the requirements either with an existing RBO or revised RBO as to the impact. Mr. Abarca restated that it is Mr. Schulte's opinion that the County should do a workforce ordinance first that would trigger studies about the workforce, to make sure it is being followed. Mr. Schulte said the County has usually adopted Kansas City, Missouri's workforce on larger projects. If the County wanted to consider a workforce participation ordinance it would be a good starting point. Mr. Abarca suggested this should be a priority. He asked when the contract would be drafted. Whitney Miller said she will do her best.

Sean E. Smith said he submitted a Request for Legislative Action (RLA) to get 911 funding for the City of Independence that they had requested consistent with other actions done for similar municipalities, including Kansas City, Greenwood and Grandview. The RLA was submitted in April and after some discussions with the Administration, he received notification from the Administration on August 14, 2024 that it was disapproved. He asked if the Administration has the legal authority to stop legislation from being drafted. He asked why it took 4 months for a response and why it was disapproved. Sylvya Stevenson said it is Administration's understanding that Legislator Smith's office and the Administration were working on a process for determining qualified items that could be approved usage of the E911 tax funds. She said Caleb Clifford, Chief of Staff, indicated that he has been working with Legislator Smith's office and is awaiting a response on the process so it can be applied to the most recent request from the City of Independence. Mr. Smith said he is working on changing the process to make it more defined for entities for future years. He asked again about the legal authority of the Administration to reject RLA's. Troy Schulte said it was their intent to get the process done upfront so they could run everything through the process. He said they could advance his RLA since it is legislative intent and the money has been appropriated. Sean E. Smith said we are 8 months into the year, so introducing a new process now would mean denying one municipality when other municipalities just had to ask and it was legally compliant. Since there is no legal authority of the Administration, he asked the Clerk of the County Legislature to revise the legislative process so members of the Administration can not reject RLA's but can provide feedback or comments on a progressive basis. He said the duration for approvals should also be tightened so this does not happen again. He asked the County Clerk to modify the process in accordance with the rules.

Resolutions #21700, #21701, #21702, and #21703 were adopted at this time. See page 12 for details.

6 PERFECTION OF PROPOSED ORDINANCES AND REPORTS OF COMMITTEE

Manuel Abarca IV explained the floor amendment for Ordinance #5861.

Charlie Franklin, County Legislator, said several members of the Jackson County Sports Authority and team representatives are not in favor of these changes.

DaRon McGee, County Legislator, asked the number of years for the sunset. Manuel Abarca IV said it is 5 years. Mr. McGee asked if this amendment passes it would require another vote in 5 years. Mr. Abarca responded it is 5 years from the extension of the sales tax which would be 2036.

Jeanie Lauer, Chairman, surrendered the Chair to Megan Marshall, Vice Chairman. Ms. Lauer asked if there is a commitment from the Chiefs to stay in Jackson County for a specified amount of time or are we putting the tax first and hoping they will stay.

Manuel Abarca IV said the attorneys for the team expressed they would like to rehab the stadium instead of constructing a new stadium which is why the floor amendment reflects the adjustment. He said the Chiefs are still looking at other options. This legislation gives people the opportunity to vote in November.

Jeanie Lauer resumed the Chair.
