Literacy KC

Ticket to Read

Date Program was Initiated: 2010

What time period does this program run: All Year

Provide program description: Ticket to Read is Literacy KC's cornerstone program, serving 400-500 students in the 2017-18 school year. In Ticket to Read, certified Literacy KC-employed instructors lead each literacy class, supported by a team of volunteer tutors, who offer supplemental and individualized lessons while cultivating mentor-type relationships. The program utilizes original, state of the art curriculum including federal College and Career Readiness Standards and several states' Common Core Standards. These services are offered at no cost to students, and classes are tailored to meet students where they are academically in order to ensure success. Classes meet twice per week for 16 weeks in the fall and spring, and for 8 weeks in the summer at different locations throughout the metro area. Specialized lessons and tailored curriculum meet the specific needs of each pupil, factors that are unique to Literacy KC and which make the programming incredibly effective. There is currently a waiting list of students who wish to enroll in our programs.

Describe the benefits of this program to Jackson County Missouri: Through factors like loss of productivity and healthcare costs, illiteracy costs the United States up to $500 Billion annually. Imagine being able to prevent and reduce this annual cost for Americans. According to a the most recent Federal NAAL survey, 225,000 adults in Kansas City lack basic literacy skills. Of those, 145,000 function at the lowest literacy level. This makes simple tasks, like understanding prescriptions or nutritional labels, finding and applying for work opportunities, nearly impossible. In 2015, Literacy KC received an average of 41 phone calls each month from adult learners interested in improving their reading, writing, and digital skills. The Ticket to Read program equips students with these skills, and helps prepare them for working toward their High School diplomas, their GEDs, or other career readiness programs. At its office in Jackson County, Literacy KC equips students with the education and career readiness skills they need to be successful in obtaining a job with a livable wage and providing security for their families. Additionally, Literacy KC's work and cross programming with organizations like the Kansas City Public Library, Mid Continent Public libraries, the Northeast Community Center, the Brush Creek Community Center, Operation Breakthrough, Connecting for Good, and United Inner City Services means our organization can reach a variety of potential students and work to create a lasting and supportive community of learning. Last year alone, 10 students left public assistance, 41 obtained employment, 43 got a raise or promotion, 71 registered to vote, and 82 read to a child or grandchild for the first time, all after utilizing Literacy KC services.

Describe target population to be served: The majority of learners (63%) fall within the 25-54 age range. 8% are young adults age 15-24, 22% are older adults age 55-64, and 7% are seniors 65 and older. 89% of our program participants are low-income. 70% of students are African American, 13% are Caucasian, 9% are Hispanic, and 8% identify as Asian, American Indian, or mixed ethnicity. In August 2018, Literacy KC relocated to the intersection of 31st Street and Troost Avenue, forming a long-term partnership with Operation Breakthrough. Our strategic goal is to enroll as many Operation Breakthrough parents in Ticket to Read and our other programs as possible: 70 in Ticket to Read each year; 100 in Entry to English for non-English speaking students; 25 in Career Online High School for students earning their high school diplomas; 120 new families in Let's Read family reading program. Funding from Jackson County Outside Agency funding will fund this enrollment increase for Operation Breakthrough's parents to enroll in Literacy KC's programs.

What are the qualifications for participants: Literacy KC makes its free services available to everyone. Due to limited capacity, there is a wait list for our services, but we work to make sure as many students as possible are enrolled. Additionally, the Student Needs Committee works to increase accessibility by providing students with demonstrated need with bus passes, glasses or contact lenses, and other items that students may not be able to afford otherwise. Student demographics, including the county where the student resides, is tracked in our Salesforce database, allowing us to review and assess where need is greatest.
