Budget hearing-Lee's Summit

Helen Rozgay- transportation for people to receive an abortion.

Cheri Battrick-no abortion funds, would like choice to exist.

Debora Corn-Tarsney Lake, two lakes of unincorporated Jackson county, private lake community that was fully developed. Dis-incorporated, 0.0 dollars allocated from the budget. Needed a lake dredged. Dock changed for accessibility, mowing, dredging, etc.

John Fierro-continued support of MRC through the multiple funds that support mental health services, social service programming and create outcomes that prevent community violence. Use of ARPA funds focusing on economic development, retraining of workforce, uninsured covid vaccinations, violence and crime prevention. Considering modeling after KCMO to establish a fund with a formal request for proposals for submission.

Courtney Chaney-Tarsney Lake, first time home owners, three children. Homes are sitting burned, grass is high and lake is dry. Sheriff's dept does not respond, drugs being dealt, people are fighting in their front yards. They do not feel safe taken care of. Condemned homes, campers, sheds and folks living in these situations. The damn that was repaired is cracked.

Josh Kimbrough-small business owner, creating generational wealth. Suggesting that investing in small businesses will be a force multiplier.

Cheryl Taylor-against abortion fund.

Storm Dillensenneide-against abortion fund, would like support for fentanyl.

Maxfield Keniger-kanbe's markets, working on the eastside of KC, helping mom and pop convenience stores to sell health foods. Model is unique to the country. Operate over 40 locations all around KC. Seeking support for consideration for their organization to expand access to affordable healthy food.

Dr. Gordon Bell-anti-abortion allocation

Eze Redwood-advocating for small businesses. Seeking between $5-20 million dollars.

Nigel Johnson-first certified affordable housing provider, hood hope foundation, teaching financial literacy for youth, host neighborhood cleanups, helping employee ex-offenders. Seeking to support the small businesses proposal.

Cecil Wattree-executive director of the black mental health initiative, have a private practice in Lee's Summit. Because of community trauma caused by violent crime, there is a clear need more organizations to provide services, battle stigmas, etc. Provide funding for small businesses,

Cameron Chambers-trail building volunteer, urban trail co. Blue river masterplan adopted plan. He would seek funding of the adopted master plan to prioritize the needs of blue river. Economic development follows development.

Billy Zer-World cup focus is important to local artists. Veteran, ptsd struggler, family member of a person who died four times from fentanyl, someone who has experienced homelessness. It is imperative for financial support for the needs of these issues. Support our artists

Stan Woodward-anti-abortion travel fund. Ways to strengthen families.
